Modern medicine as we know it wasn't shaped by doctors alone—it was engineered by John D. Rockefeller. In the early 20th century, Rockefeller and his oil empire helped transform medicine into a pharmaceutical industry, sidelining natural remedies and alternative medicine in favor of synthetic, patented drugs.
🚨 Was this a revolution in healthcare or a calculated power move?
💰 Did Rockefeller create Big Pharma for profit, not public health?
🔎 In this episode of Forgotten History, we uncover the hidden story of how Rockefeller took control of medicine, the rise of Big Pharma, and why natural treatments were pushed aside in favor of prescription drugs. Written and hosted by Colin D. Heaton. Forgotten History is a 10th Legion Pictures Production.

It is not a forgotten history but a suppressed history.

You forgot to mention his role in the education system where he created it to produce unthinking drones who would work in factories saying he “would rather a nation of workers than one of philosophers”. That’s why there’s a school bell to resemble work shifts, the one hour lesson to factory shifts and a emphasis on following rules instead of thinking outside the box. This contributes greatly to a lack of entrepreneurship that would obviously challenge the corporate hegemony.

I recall my grandmother who was elderly, congestive heart failure, as well as other health problems, received a prescription from the doctor. She took it to the pharmacy which was more of a hometown friendly store. The druggist knew her well. He wouldn't fill the prescription because of the drug interaction with the other medications she was taking would have killed her. That was in the 1970's. Thank God the pharmacist had caught that, and knew more about drug interactions that her own doctor or I wouldn't have had my granny around as a young child.

This is so important and extensively researched. As a retired nurse, I never put it together, but I knew the alternative colleges were all destroyed and defunded. Now I can see why. This is truly despicable.

This is one of many topics, that should be taught more openly but they deliberately keep it away.

My dentist briefly 15 years ago, educated me on this, completely opening my eyes, which helped me make correct decisions for my health.
I know of a lot of really great doctors that have been suspended and / or License revoked by the machine. Especially in the last four years.
The machine now has captured and also controls veterinarians.
Thank you for this video.
